

Champion

The person who runs a dojo. The champion has every mentor capability plus the dojo's lifecycle, the children's health notes, mail to the dojo's families and the dojo's API clients.

Screenshots taken on the development site (seeded demo data) as owner-51-dojowesterlo (champion of Dojo Westerlo), 29 September 2026.

The journey

- Watch the dashboard and next session
- Keep the dojo's public profile up to date
- Plan and publish sessions, handle the waiting list
- Take attendance, manage the team and members
- Post updates, mail families, connect apps

Steps in this document

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1. The dojo dashboard | 7. Managing the team |
| 2. Dojo settings | 8. Members |
| 3. Sessions | 9. Updates |

Step 1

The dojo dashboard

The champion's home: the next session's attendance, a banner if the dojo isn't active, and the six-month dormancy nudge when the dojo has gone quiet.

Step 2

Dojo settings

At the top, the dojo's status: only the champion launches the dojo, marks it dormant or archives it (never with open sessions) and reopens it. Below, everything on the dojo's public page: name, description in each of the dojo's languages, icon, address (re-geocoded on save), contact details and pathways.

Step 4

Planning a new session

A new session: date and times (Belgian notation), places, age range, audience (e.g. a girls' session), a banner from the image library or an upload, the team running it and the pathways. It starts as a draft; publishing opens registrations and the families get the new-sessions mail.

About this session

Description

Game jam is een sessie voor beginners waarin je zelf aan de slag gaat. Wat je doet:

- Kies een project en begin te bouwen
- Krijg hulp van een mentor als je vastzit
- Toon op het einde wat je maakte (helemaal vrijblijvend)

Step 6

Attendance with health notes

The champion's attendance list also shows the family's allergy and health notes, only for children with a confirmed place, and every view of them is recorded in the audit log.

Write to the families of your dojo

A mail from your dojo, through the site: to all your families, to those booked for a session, or to a group you pick. Only families who want news from your dojo get it, and every mail lets them stop. Replies go to your dojo's email address.

You can also write to your own team: the dojo's champion and mentors.

Who gets it

☒ All families of the dojo
Families whose child has the dojo as home dojo, or came to one of its sessions in the last year.

☐ Families booked for a session
Families with a place for one of your sessions, and if you like those on its waiting list.

☐ Families on a session's waiting list
For example to tell them about an extra session.

☐ Families who came recently
Families whose child came to one of your sessions in the chosen period.

☐ New families
Children who only just started coming to your dojo. Only families who agreed to their child's details being used to choose their mail.

☐ We miss you
Children who used to come to your dojo but missed several sessions in a row or stopped coming. Only families who agreed to their child's details being used to choose their mail.

☐ Children of an age
Children of your dojo within an age range. Only families who agreed to their child's details being used to choose their mail.

☐ Children on a pathway
Children of your dojo who worked on one of your pathways at a session. Only families who agreed to their child's details being used to choose their mail.

☐ Your dojo's team
The dojo's champion and mentors, for example to plan the next sessions. It goes out as volunteering mail and doesn't count towards your mails to families.

Reaches 6 families.

Only families who want news from your dojo count; the rest never get it.

Step 11

An API client is an app or website that works for this dojo, for now an app at the door that marks who came. It logs in with its own client ID and secret (OAuth 2.0 client credentials) and can only do what you allow here, for this dojo only. Only you, as the champion, see this page.
